Traditional parade route to be used

BY LIZ HAAS

The Krewe of Real People has reverted to its traditional parade route after the Krewe of Camelot, which was supposed to parade with them, cancelled.

The route will begin at Bookter Street at 11 a.m. Mardi Gras Day, turning left on Necaise and right onto Main Street. It will descend to Beach Boulevard and head up Court Street.

It will take a left on Second Street and the King and Queen, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Lampley, will offer a royal toast in front of the old City Hall. It will proceed to Union Street and head across the railroad tracks to Third Street, taking a right onto Washington and traveling Old Spanish Trail to the starting point at Bookter Street.

The Krewe of Camelot will have three units in the parade, two of which will be transit street cars, according to Hester Plauche.

Bay St. Louis accepts bid on Highway 90 lighting project

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Applause resounded through Bay St. Louis City Hall Tuesday following the acceptance of a $206,159 bid for the lighting of Highway 90. Clerk of council Mike Cuevas said, "The city began work on this project more than two years ago."

Planned for Highway 90 are 87 to 88 fiberglass poles with twin 250-watt high pressure sodium lights, stretching from city limit to city limit.

Monies from federal aid urban assistance funds will pay 80 percent of the tab, leaving Bay St. Louis with $47,220 to pay in construction costs. The city also picks up the $12,000 engineering fee.

The project now awaits approval of the federal highway administration and state highway department.

CAMP ONWARD

The council approved a request by Mark Maneval for a third public hearing on a zoning change at the 19-acre Camp Onward property in Bay St. Louis.

The Camp Onward property is located at 972 S. Beach Boulevard and extends northwest to Railroad Avenue.

Special exception zoning application is sought by Dr. Mark Maneval and Dr. Mary Ann Adams Maneval. The property is owned by the Kingsley House Group of New Orleans and has been for sale for the past two years.

The Manevals proposed operating a camp for children and possibly in the future a retreat for senior citizens.

Child Care Center site receives county approval

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The county Child Development Center will be located south of the Farmer's Market shed at the Human Resources Complex.

The board of supervisors approved the location Monday and told architect Mike Reeves to proceed with plans for the design of the new facility.

Human Resources Agency center director Lora Mederos and the board reached an agreement in which the county will supply the location and borrow funds needed for the construction of the new building.

Reeves said the building will be approximately 48x78'. It will have two play areas adjoining the building and sit 15 feet from the property line.

He commented, should the center need to expand, an addition could be made at the north end, and the Farmer's Market shed could be relocated.

The supervisors said the county would pay for the paving of the loop drive which presently sits behind the Civic Center.

According to Mederos, the center has outgrown its location at Third and Washington streets. It presently serves 54 children, five days per week. The new building will allow for 111 more.

Mederos and four children from the center presented the board with a handmade thank you card.

LEETOWN

Leetown Volunteer Fire Department received board approval to advertise for the construction of a new firehouse.

Leetown Fire Department chief James Reeves estimated the costs for the new building to run between $20,000 and $25,000.

He added, the work advertised for will only be for the foundation and outside structure.

"The rest of the work," he commented, "will probably be done by us at a later time."

TRUCKS

The board rejected two bids received on one or more used dump trucks for the county Road and Bridge Department.

One bid named a price of $42,572 for a 1989 Mack truck with a rebuilt engine; the other described a 1987 truck for $31,950 with 182,101 miles.

District 2 supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar requested the board check the cost of purchasing a new truck, adding, "I hate to spend $40,000 on a used truck."

District 3 supervisor Howard Lizzana asked if a lease-purchase agreement would be more cost effective for the county.

Road and Bridge supervisor Sam Cuevas was instructed to return with quotes on both new trucks and lease/purchase.

CABLE TV

Board president Mike Ladner was visibly upset with a request from Cable Vision to raise prices in the Pearlinton service area.

Kellar said, "Deny the request," which the board immediately did.

Cable Vision cited a planned increase in channel offerings as costing them $45,400. They asked for a 10-year extension on their franchise with the county.

Ladner remarked, "What exist is a non-exclusive franchise."

ASRM continues to move forward

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

While everyone in Washington, D.C. speculates on the future of NASA's space station and Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM), workers at Stennis continue to erect the testing stand which will hold the controversial motors.

A January article in the John C. Stennis Space Center Lagniappe publication reported an increase in the construction pace on the stand.

ASRM opponents contend, should the contents of the exhaust plume contact moisture, it will produce acid rain, endangering the lives and property of residents.

The plume will emit about 350 tons of toxic, microscopic aluminum particles and corrosive gases during each testing.

NASA has been permitted by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and other federal and state regulatory agencies for the first test firing only.

The terms of these permits dictate elaborate precautionary measures to ensure no firing will take place during times of precipitation or high humidity. Should all go well, application will then be made for two

Supervisors receive theme park final draft

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The final draft of the proposed DeLisle Improvement District bill was handed to members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The supervisors said they will review the bill prior to setting a third public hearing date.

Mississippi Motorsports Park Inc. president Stephen Guice reported copies will be left for public review at the county board of supervisors office; the Diamondhead Property Owners Association offices; and at each of the three county library branches.

A second public hearing was held on January 27, as requested by Guice. At that time the supervisors declined to comment, citing lack of a final draft for study.

Motorsports Park is requesting board support of the bill for the intent of creating a 15,000-acre America's Park.

The proposed park will contain a theme park; a $60 million speedway, comparable to Florida's Daytona; a botanical garden; and future plans for an audio/visual studio and technical school.

Approximately 10,000 acres of the park area are to be located in Hancock County from Bayou LaCroix to Texas Flat Road, and from Jourdan River to the Stennis Space Center buffer zone.

The remaining 5,000 acres are to be situated in the DeLisle, Har-

Stennis relate to rail system foundation work and wiring ducts for power and instrumentation needs.

The rail system will be used for movement of the conditioning building over the ASRM, which will allow technicians both protection from weather elements and control over motor heating and cooling.

The rail system will also support a 300-ton crane, used in the lifting and movement of the ASRM.

Electrical and instrumentation ducts will be constructed as two separate concrete systems. One will house wiring for power supply and the other for electronic test data flow.

Scheduled to begin within the next few weeks are construction of cased water lines needed for motor cooling, and gaseous nitrogen lines use in valve operations; and foundation work for storage and signal conditioning (data collecting instrumentation) buildings.

Thus far, at Stennis, $25 million has been spent on ASRM development and construction. NASA anticipates another $38 million will be spent prior to the first test firing, anticipated in April of 1994.

Waveland PD's quick response helps trapped Waveland man

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Waveland resident John Lyster, 31, was changing the oil in his car Friday when he noticed the muffler appeared to be loose.

Lying on his back on a concrete driveway under the car, he reached over his head to shake the unsteady muffler. The next thing he remembers is a Waveland policeman crouched down in the grease and oil telling him everything was going to be all right.

"The jack had fallen out and the car fell on me. My arm was pinned on top of my chest, and I passed out," said Lyster.

His wife returned with a cup of coffee to find her husband pale and unconscious.

"She called her sister, who dialed 911," he said. Three units were dispatched to the Cedar Street residence.

Officers Kevin McIntosh, Gene Boswell and Ricky Jacobs were commended by Lyster for their rapid response to the emergency.

Lyster was transported to Slidell Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. He spent the next day at Hancock Medical Center after he experienced an irregular heartbeat.

"My heart was bruised from the pressure," he said.

"I think I'll use a jack stand from now on, and be a little more careful."

County wants percent of future casino profits

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County is willing to exchange boarding fee revenues from future gaming casinos, for 3.2 percent of the gross.

Tuesday, the county Board of Supervisors passed a resolution authorizing the preparation of the amendment to the bill governing dockside gaming.

Board attorney Gerald Gex said the change will be good until next year, when the board may renew or renegotiate the percentage.

He added, the board could choose how and where the monies would be applied.

District 2 supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar stated all casino revenues are placed in a special trust account.

Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise reported the account presently contains about $180,000 from taxes received through the Bay St. Louis-located Casino Magic.

"We are waiting to accumulate enough for capital improvement," Necaise commented.

The amendment to the gaming law will only affect county located gaming facilities.

According to Guice, the strip is necessary as a joiner, making the two separate land masses legally one.

After quickly flipping through the 76-page bill, board attorney Gerald Gex stated, "I still have a problem, I do not see any mets and bounds description."

Guice commented his company would be ready to begin construction within 60 days of passage of the bill.

Lakeshore Park ordered completed

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors ordered Lakeshore Park completed Tuesday, even if the county must pay.

County Parks Commission chairman A.L. Franklin was told to take quotes on labor costs to erect a fence and set up play equipment.

Franklin estimates the labor will cost between $1,500 and $2,000.

Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise said, the county only has two men assigned to the buildings and grounds department, and neither one is experienced in fence installation.

The Lakeshore Park is located at the corner of Lower Bay and Lakeshore roads.

According to Franklin, the project was begun at least six months ago.

The board authorized a request to Pearl River Basin Commission for assistance with the purchase of a lawn mower to be used at county parks.

Franklin said Pearl River Basin Commission would contribute half of the $4,000 needed for the purchase of the mower.

Board members discussed the possibility of contracting for grass cutting, citing the expense of machinery and labor.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is time to get back on one of my favorite complaints. I am talking about vehicles with only one headlight operating.

Sunday night, while at the Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center, I noticed several.

There was even a chartered bus, yes a bus load of people, with only one headlight operating. I guess vans are getting into the action too, as I saw two mini- and one full-size van with only one headlight.

Of course, there were some one-headlight autos and pickup trucks.

I have a number of readers who tell me about the number of 'one-eyed' vehicles they see around the county while driving at night.

Dangerous Highway 603 is a favorite roadway for counting 'one-eyed' vehicles. I was amazed at the numbers one resident gave me on a recent early morning and evening trip on the length of Highway 603.

It seems Hancock County is the headquarters for 'one-eyed' vehicles.

I am waiting for action to be taken one day, and I think a lot of motorists will really be shocked to find out that it is illegal to operate a vehicle with only one headlight.

One the subject of vehicles.

Another thing I have noticed in recent weeks is the number of vehicles with expired inspection stickers and also a few auto tags.

I know our tax office is very prompt in sending out expiration notices on tags, but some seem to forget the inspection stickers.

A good way to keep up with both of them is to have your safety inspection sticker renewed the same month you have your tag renewed.

Mardi Gras is heating up now, and on Saturday the annual Krewe of Diamondhead Land parade is scheduled for 2 p.m.

This is a new start time for the parade, as it usually starts at noon.

A longtime friend, Benny Mistretta, Krewe of Diamondhead Land parade captain, is expecting a record number of viewers.

The parade forms at the Community Center, travels Diamondhead Drive to Aloha Drive, Aloha to Kalani Drive, Kalani to Gulf Club Drive, Gulf Club to the Diamondhead Country Club.

Parade going at Diamondhead is really a family affair. There are many good viewing areas along the route, too.

Activity will also continue at Diamondhead with the Boat Parade set for Sunday.

The parade is set to reach the Diamondhead Yacht Club at 3 p.m.

There will be a lot of activities at the Yacht Club following the parade, and it too is a fun time for all.

Our neighbors across the Bay in Pass Christian will celebrate with the annual St. Paul's Carnival Association parade on Sunday.

This parade begins at 1 p.m. and will return to its original route this year.

This parade which has been around over 75 years, is really a family affair with many floats being composed of family members.

It is one of the longer parades along the coast for Mardi Gras and has thousands upon thousands of viewers.

Fat Tuesday will be celebrated in Hancock County with the Annual Krewe of Real People's parade.

The parade will continue this year with its in-town route, and I will comment more on Tuesday.

I hope to see you at the parades.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Frilot responsible for improvements in Waveland

Dear Editor,

As a Waveland homeowner for almost 17 years, I have watched the political leadership of the community with great interest. With a feeling of satisfaction, I have followed the development of Waveland under the guidance provided by Mayor Stella Frilot.

Many others agree that the achievements now seen in Waveland are attributable to the dedication of Mayor Frilot and others working with her.

Some weeks ago, I noticed a letter to the editor in which a person was critical of Mayor Frilot for allegedly informing the president of the St. Vincent de Paul Society to vacate a city-owned building.

My understanding of these events is that the involved individuals were simply requested to reapply for the space in question, pay a fair rent to comply with state law, and provide evidence of liability insurance to protect the city and its citizens.

This is a far stretch from Mayor Frilot having attempted to force the tenants out of the space.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society clearly accomplishes great charitable objectives and its status is not a question here.

Instead, the issue is whether there has been a correct characterization of the mayor's actions.

Among the many activities which have promoted the Waveland community are the following: The Christmas Festival of Lights is an inexpensive and attractive event which benefits everyone. The neutral grounds and drainage ditch of the highway and the Waveland city limits have been noticeably cleaner thanks to efforts by Mayor Frilot.

Mayor Frilot personally paid for drapes and other renovations to Waveland's City Hall.

Clearly, Mayor Frilot has a strong and unselfish commitment to Waveland. Her dedication is refreshing and, under her leadership, the improvements continue.

These days some news publications seem to find criticism more newsworthy than praise. My comments are indicative of the thankful attitude so many Waveland people have toward Mayor Frilot.

Sincerely,
Donald R. Abounza

US-90 speed limit should be lowered through city

Dear Editor,

I hope that Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil will be successful in getting the speed limit changed to 40 mph in the city areas of Hwy. 90.

The Department of Public Safety should not refuse this speed reduction. More signal lights would also be helpful, and moving radar should be installed to detain and penalize the careless speeding drivers.

In addition to the increase in accidents, I have seen many near-misses along this stretch of the highway due to speeding.

Something else that would help a great deal is the installation of additional street lighting in the area. I find it difficult to drive at night, particularly on rainy nights, and have seen other drivers with the same difficulty.

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

By Governor Kirk Fordice

It's time for Mississippi to get in the game!

Alabama 1 — Mississippi 0
Tennessee 2 — Mississippi 0
Arkansas 4 — Mississippi 0
Louisiana 8 — Mississippi 0.

Although it's not Spring yet, these may look like lopsided baseball scores to you—but they're not. These scores are much more important than that. These numbers are a comparison of how many millions of dollars Southeastern states spend on tourism.

Right now, it's Mississippi—0. But with the help of the Mississippi Legislature, these shut-out scores could drastically change.

The House and Senate are currently reviewing one of our TEAMississippi bills that deals with establishing the Mississippi Tourism Fund—a dedicated fund to be used strictly for tourism promotion and advertising for the State of Mississippi.

The money in the fund would be generated from taking a percentage of the gaming revenue that Mississippi now receives from the numerous casinos and other gambling operations across the state—that is to say, no new or increased taxes.

Mississippi's image across the country has become much like the weather—everybody always talks about it, but nobody has ever done much of anything about it.

If we are to dispel the misinformation about our state and spread the good news about the leadership role Mississippi is taking in many walks of life, we have to "toot our own horn."

Tourists spend more than $1.6 billion in Mississippi annually, generate state and local tax revenues in excess of $190 million and help create 33,000 jobs with incomes totalling more than $720 million.

Mississippi's reputation for "doing more with less" is well-earned; however, it has become virtually impossible to continue to "do more with nothing."

When I campaigned for Governor, I said the focus of my administration would be expanded economic development efforts to create jobs for Mississippians. My plan is three-fold.

First, establish a "CEO to CEO" relationship with some of the world's biggest industries—which we've done.

Second, create a first-class industry-recruiting climate in Mississippi—which we're doing by reforming Mississippi workers' compensation, making lawsuit and tort laws fairer and providing tax exemptions for businesses.

The third step in this plan must be tourism promotion and advertising for the state of Mississippi. Economic development progress in the state can do no good unless we have some means by which to tell people outside the state about our progress.

In a new world market with thousands of competitors, look at what some of our competitors closest to home are doing. In the state of Louisiana, for every $1 they spend on tourism, $75.80 in tourist dollars is spent in the state and $3.04 is generated in tax revenue.

During a one-year period in the State of Alabama, after spending $3.4 million on tourism promotion, 70,110 new jobs were created which generated $120 million in state tax revenue and $70 million in local tax revenue.

And $2.5 million in advertising dollars in 1990-91 created a 214,000-person increase in the number of visitors to Arkansas and a more than 800,000-person increase in the state of Tennessee.

And just in case you've forgotten, Mississippi spends $0 million.

But wouldn't money in a tourism campaign benefit only the Coast and Mississippi's larger urban areas? Absolutely not. Last year alone, restaurants across the state earned almost 50% of their income from tourists, gasoline stations 35%, and general merchandise stores 20%. The operative word in Mississippi's tourism and advertising campaign is "statewide."

"We're Really Cookin'!" "We're Playing Your song!" "The Natural State." "The State of Surprises." If you recognize any of these slogans, the tourism campaigns of Louisiana, Tennessee, Arkansas and Alabama, are already making an impression on you and your community.

Mississippians have always enjoyed calling the Magnolia State "the best kept secret in the South." However, it is becoming clearer and clearer every day that Mississippi can no longer afford to be silent. There is a competitive game going on in this nation and this world, and it is high time we fielded a team.

If you want your state to be competitive with a Mississippi Tourism Fund, call TEAMississippi at 1-800-TEAM-1-2-3, and we'll show you how you can be a part of making it a reality.

Protecting 'the little man'

One of the most important bills still alive in the current legislative session attempts to rein in some of the inequities that exist in Mississippi's civil justice system. House Bill 1270 is still standing as a vehicle that can bring positive change in tort reform.

The House bill, in a nutshell, makes it more difficult to win punitive damages in lawsuits by requiring clear and convincing evidence that the defendant intended to do harm. It also protects innocent individuals or stores that sell a product that is later proven to be defective.

This bill is a compromise between the business community and the state's trial lawyers. Tort reform emerged early in the legislative session as a major issue, prodded by Governor Fordice and the business community. And, contrary to arguments by opponents, it is not an attempt to sabotage the jury system or hinder the ability of the public to file legitimate lawsuits.

In essence, HB1270 should be embraced by those who claim that it is designed to harm "the little man." More than anything else, it is designed to protect from frivolous lawsuits any and all Mississippians—"the little man and woman"—working hard to build a business and provide for their families.

Mississippi desperately needs changes in its civil justice system. The current House bill offers a beginning, a starting point, for those changes.

STREET TALK

What do you think of President Clinton's proposals to help the economy?

"Taxing people with incomes at $100,000 plus is long overdue and it's about time it's being done. Clinton wants to tax the middle income, which is the majority of the people. This will generate more overall money than taxing the rich. The middle class man still gets the blunt end of the tax increase. He's only been in office for 28 days and is already falling into the same old trap as his predecessors."

J. C. Barrett
Bay St. Louis

"I am a middle class American citizen and am not opposed to pay my share if Clinton goes along with the plan from starting at the top and working his way down. We've been carrying all the weight for the past 12 years."

Dennis McKinney

"Well, it's better than nothing at all, and that's what we've had for the last 12 years, unless you're rich. I have no quarrels with Clinton on the economy."

Susan Brimelow

"The man has a clear proposed agenda. I have considerable reservations that he and his staff will be able to overcome the opposition to carry it through. He has one real advantage, control over both houses. I've been impressed with him and find hope in what he says."

County unemployment rate undercuts state and national

BY LIZ HAAS
Hancock County marked its sixth straight month of decreasing unemployment with a December rate of 5.2 percent and is ranked 21 among other counties in the state.

In December of 1992, 13,650 of the 14,400 civilian labor force were employed, leaving 750 unemployed.

Mississippi has stayed below the national average for two consecutive months. The national rate for December, 1992, was 7.0 percent compared to Mississippi's rate of 6.2 percent and Hancock County's rate of 5.2 percent.

In November the national, Mississippi and Hancock County rates were 7.0, 6.1 and 5.4

percent respectively. Rates for December of 1991 were 6.8 for the U.S., 7.6 for Mississippi and 5.7 percent for Hancock County.

A report by the Mississippi Employment Security Commission quoted Raiford Crews, MESCC's chief of labor market information as saying, "We expect continued improvement in the state economy over the next year with only seasonal variations."

The report also stated the fact that 1992 was an improvement for the state over 1991 makes for an optimistic prognosis for the new year.

Neighboring counties that experienced a decrease in unemployment rates include Jackson County, which fell from 5.7 percent in November to 5.3 percent in December and Pearl River County went from 7.8 percent to 7.4 percent.

Harrison County went from 4.9 percent in November to 5.0 percent in December and Stone County increased from 9.0 percent to 9.5 percent.

OUT OF SIGHT, OUT OF MIND?

Not when it comes to natural gas pipelines and excavating!

Before you begin digging, you or your contractor should thoroughly check the surrounding area for informational warning stakes or signs that mark underground pipelines.

A vast, mostly unseen pipeline system delivers dependable natural gas to homes and businesses across the nation. Personal injuries and property damage can occur if a pipe is struck or disturbed by nearby digging, drilling or blasting. Even though a pipe is out of sight, don't let it be out of your mind. An unseen pipe could very well be under or near the area you plan to dig in.

CALL IN ADVANCE PREVENT AN ACCIDENT

If any warnings are posted, call the number shown on the signs or contact United Gas Pipe Line Company by dialing collect (713) 229-5804 or 5805. Or, you can contact the Mississippi One Call System, Inc. at 1 (800) 227-6477.

When you call indicate the county, township and section in which you will be working. Please call 48 hours in advance of any excavation operations; the phone lines are answered 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If United has pipelines in the area, we'll be happy to dispatch trained field personnel to mark or stake the facilities at no cost to you.

Economical beef cuts serve up savings

Economical meals are worth their weight in gold when it comes to feeding a family on a budget. Unusual as appealing, cost-effective recipes may seem, they abound for cooks who make good use of a few, simple ingredients.

Some of the most delicious meals, for example, are created from less-expensive cuts of beef that satisfy the body and the checkbook. Beef can be adapted to a wide range of economical recipes—it's just a matter of selecting the appropriate cuts and cooking methods. Traditionally, chuck and round cuts are least expensive.

"Budget-wise" can be far from "boring." One beef recipe, Chili Pepper Steaks, illustrates this nicely. Honored as the "Best of Chuck" winner of a recent National Beef Cook-Off, this Southwest-inspired recipe involves beef chuck eye steaks touched with a hint of chili pepper and served with flour tortillas and zesty salsa. It's appropriate for family meals or casual entertaining.

Another idea, Best-Ever Meat Loaf, uses lean ground beef in a popular dish that's easy to prepare. Served with mashed potatoes, steamed vegetables and a "lighter" interpretation of mushroom gravy, Best-Ever Meat Loaf is an updated twist on economical family dining.

Many budget-wise beef recipes can be prepared ahead of time and reheated for speedy dinners. These include marinated steaks or soups and stews that require moist-heat slow-cooking.

CHILI PEPPER STEAKS

Preparation time: 7 minutes
Marinating time: 8 hours or overnight
Cooking time: 14 to 16 minutes
4 boneless beef chuck eye steaks, cut 1 inch thick (approx. 6 ounces each)
1/2 cup red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons each fresh lime juice and olive oil
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon each crushed red pepper pods and salt
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
Salsa Fresca*
4 corn tortillas (6 to 7 inches)
Lime slices
Red chili peppers
Combine vinegar, lime juice, olive oil, chili powder, pepper pods, salt, garlic and pepper.

Cover and refrigerate 1/4 cup of the marinade. Place boneless beef chuck eye steaks and remaining marinade in plastic bag, turning to coat. Close bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 8 hours, or overnight, turning occasionally.

Prepare Salsa Fresca. Remove steaks from marinade; discard marinade. Place steaks on grid over medium coals. Grill steaks 14 to 16 minutes for rare (140° F) to medium (160° F), turning once and basting with reserved marinade.

Wrap tortillas in foil; place on grid during last 4 minutes of grilling, turning once. Place steaks on individual plates. Fold tortillas in half; bring ends around each other to form a cone. Using a slotted spoon, fill cones with Salsa Fresca and place one on each plate. Garnish with lime slices and chili peppers. 4 servings.

*Salsa Fresca

1 large tomato, chopped
1 medium avocado, chopped
2 green onions, chopped
1 tablespoon each minced fresh cilantro and fresh lime juice

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
Dash of hot pepper sauce
Combine tomato, avocado, green onions, cilantro, lime juice, garlic, salt, pepper and pepper sauce; mix well. Yield: About 2 cups.
Test about 4 inches above coals for medium with 4-second hand count.

BEST EVER MEAT LOAF

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 1 hour
1 1/2 pounds ground beef (80 percent lean)
3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup chili sauce
1 egg
1/4 teaspoon each salt and pepper
Light Mushroom Gravy*
2 cups hot mashed potatoes
Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, chili sauce, egg, salt and pepper, mixing thoroughly. Shape beef mixture into an 8 x 4 1/2-inch loaf; place on rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in 350° F (moderate) oven 1 hour. Meanwhile prepare gravy. Serve meat loaf with mashed potatoes and gravy. 6 servings.

*Light Mushroom Gravy.
Preparation time: 8 minutes
Cooking time: 8 minutes
1 cup thinly sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup ready-to-serve beef broth
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Cook mushrooms and onion in butter in medium saucepan until tender. Add beef broth and simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Combine water and cornstarch; add to mushroom mixture. Cook and stir mixture 1 minute or until thickened.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

TALENT SHOW BENEFIT

Dick Alves, an entertainer who resides in Diamondhead and I were asked to be judges for the first annual talent show and silent auction sponsored by Youngblood, Daniels and Assoc. benefiting the Louisiana and Mississippi Easter Seals Society.

We and five other judges from along the Mississippi Coast were treated to fine talent from the many contestants from Louisiana and Mississippi who entered.

There were many major contributions for this event which was Saturday, Feb. 6 in the huge auditorium complex of Hancock High School. I would say from the size of the audience, the benefit was a success.

THE PARADE IS COMING

The Krewe of Diamondhead is adding the final touches for their "greatest show on earth." The "Circus" parade on Saturday, Feb. 20 will start at the Community Center at 2 p.m. Jeff Lawson, anchor for WLOX-TV 13 is grand marshal. Lawson has worked for WLOX for five years, and he and his wife Alice reside in Biloxi.

The judges for the entries will be Pat Harvill of Riemann Funeral Home, Kathy Fernandez of Coast Electric, and Jimmy Ladner Jr., Hancock County Election Commission.

It's not too late to send your entry to Chris Arnos, 63736 N. Diamondhead Dr. or phone 255-7297. Come on out and enjoy a great parade.

VALENTINES

Joe Jackson, president, and the gentlemen of the Diamondhead Community Church, with the help of excellent chef Bill Goff, hosted a first sweetheart breakfast for their ladies (Valentines) on Saturday, Feb. 13 at 8 a.m. at the church.

The menu was: Chef Goff's special eggs, sausage and cheese (baked to a golden brown) casserole, sweet rolls and fruit. Valentine candy hearts decorated the tables. What a nice way to say "I love you." I'm sure the ladies hope this becomes an annual affair.

SUPPORT GROUP

The Diamondhead Diabetic Support Group is off to a good start, and had its first meeting on Monday, Feb. 15 at the Community Center.

Mrs. Joel Bourgeois, who is organizing the group, says many interesting and educational meetings and activities are planned for the future such as sharing special diet and nutritional recipes, etc.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, March 2, 7 p.m. at the Community Center. Guest will be Dr. Beverly Landsen, an endocrinologist and president of the Gulf Coast chapter of the American Diabetes Association. All are welcome to join this worthwhile group.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

1993-94 Preregistration is ongoing at Diamondhead Academy through April 30. Registration fee is $50. Also, young folks are registering for summer camp. Please call 255-1784 for more information.

FIRE PROTECTION

Bob Valigosky, with the Diamondhead Fire Department says, "What a wonderful place Diamondhead would be if everything worked out perfectly, and no one had a problem." He asks that the property owners please have patience and bear with the commissioners as they try to work out the problems in the new funding system.

"As in any new undertaking, not everyone can be satisfied, but be assured that they are trying to be as accommodating as possible."

He further states, "Please do not vent your displeasure in your phone calls to the men working at the station, because they are only doing their jobs."

Congratulations to two fire department captains, Mike Wilumitis and Brian Adam, who recently completed training at the State Fire Academy and are now nationally registered. They are the first in Hancock County to attain this high rating.

The department welcomes aboard a dedicated and experienced fire fighter, Brian "Flash" Sellier. How fortunate we in Diamondhead are for this service to our community. Bless you, boys!

GREEN, A GOOD COLOR

The Diamondhead Art Guild proudly presents Ms. Paige Sullivan as their new artist-in-residence. A commercial artist who enjoys watercolor, painting, drawing and jewelry-making, Paige says, "Art has to be lived to be expressed. Everybody has their interpretation of what art is, and that's fascinating."

The Guild is sponsoring a one-woman show of her works on Monday, March 22 at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center. Beginning on Tuesday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. she will conduct classes on beginning watercolor and drawing at the Diamondhead Day Care and Adult Learning Center, 4312 Park Ten Drive. For more information and to register, please call 255-3465, 255-7199 or 466-5273. Get out those paint brushes and join the fun. You can draw a straight line.

PETS

Protect and love our pets, and spay or neuter.

MY THOUGHTS

Be cheerful, helpful and kind. People will repay you for it. Have a great week!

Hancock Bank hosts economic symposium

Business is good and the future looks bright, especially if private industry and government work together.

That was the message delivered by bank officials and four South Mississippi industry leaders at Hancock Bank's economic symposium. The 27th annual event was held Feb. 9 at the Mississippi Coast Convention Center.

This year's symposium was attended by 950 business, civic and political leaders and was hosted by Leo W. Seal, chairman and chief executive officer of Hancock Bank, George A. Schloegel, president of Hancock Bank of Mississippi, and A. Bridger Eglin, president of Hancock Bank of Louisiana.

Guest speakers were William W. Edwards, executive director of the Mississippi Port Authority in Gulfport, Bob LeBlanc, executive director of the Harrison County Tourism Commission, Thomas A. McConomy, president of Calgon Carbon Corporation and Thomas G. Parry, Jr., president of Mississippi Chemical Corporation.

Seal, Schloegel and Eglin began the program with a brief history of Hancock Bank and the economic outlooks for South Mississippi and Baton Rouge. The guest speakers then delivered brief overviews of their organizations, addressing significant issues which will face them in the coming year.

Edwards listed several recent and upcoming improvements to the Port of Gulfport, including a dockside chiller, new storage and distribution tanks, new warehouses and the dredging which will increase the 30 foot channel to 38 feet.

He also discussed the two casinos which are being constructed in undeveloped areas of the harbor. Edwards commented, "We have gone to great lengths to insure that casino operations do not interfere with our cargo movements. If they ever should leave us, we can and will be handling cargo in their abandoned tracts in very short order." Edwards listed daily rail switching service to Hattiesburg and Jackson as the port's major need in 1993.

LeBlanc stressed the importance of tourism to the Gulf Coast and the rest of Mississippi. In 1990 tourists spent $1.6 billion in the state, with Harrison County leading with $293 million. This directly supported over 7,200 full- and part-time jobs in 378 tourism-related businesses, generating a payroll of $46 million.

LeBlanc listed dockside gaming as the prime cause of the rise of tourism, but added, "There is no doubt that if properly managed, dockside gaming can stimulate growth of our area in all economic sectors."

He stressed that a coordinated effort by local governments, citizens and businesses is needed to properly evaluate and respond to changing trends and economic conditions.

Calgon Carbon Corporation, headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, operates a plant in Pearlinton. McConomy stated that the activated carbon produced in Mississippi and other plants is used in a variety of ways in purifying water and other materials.

Calgon also operates plants in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Belgium and Germany. The decision to build an operation at Pearlinton was based on the availability of natural gas and easy access to Mississippi's two ports. The outlook for 1993 is good, with demand for activated carbon on the rise, particularly in Western Europe.

Parry's corporation, Mississippi Chemical, owns and operates Mississippi Phosphates in Pascagoula, employing 226 people. The plant produces 4,300 tons of acids and fertilizers per day.

Phosphate rock is imported from Morocco, upgraded, then shipped to China and other countries. According to Parry, although the market for Mississippi Phosphates' products is presently depressed, "I have no doubt that this plant will continue to operate for a long time."

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Water temperature rising—good fishing is on the way!

It's time to go fishin' y'all.

Man, let me told ya, it's almost time. If you have been watching Channel 13 lately you must have seen that the water temperature is in the 60s and rising.

But most importantly, the salinity count is hovering around 16 ppt. That's 16 parts of salt per thousand parts of water. You're not gonna need your salt shaker when you go fishin' out in the Sound anymore. It's great!

When the water temperature hits about 68 degrees and the salinity count hits about 18 ppt, the spring speckled trout time will have arrived.

On the fresh water scene, the Pearl River is well within its banks and looks more like a river instead of a field that is ready to plow. I mean the water looks like water and not mud. That... is... an improvement!

If the monsoon rains will hold off for just a few more weeks, the fresh water scene oughta be somewhere between spectacular and super good.

The conditions will be right for the huge mouth bass to really pig out on their favorite foods to get ready for their spring time "love-in". So, you might wanna start getting your fresh water gear in top shape 'cause the bass are just about ready for you to "try" and catch them.

Since the huge mouth bass will be in a feeding mood, you can guess that the other fresh water fish are gonna be just as hungry.

The perch will be out in force looking for their favorites—worms, crickets and grass shrimp. These little guys make for ideal family fun in the outdoors. All you need is a cane pole some line; a small hook; a small split shot sinker; and some bait.

Most reports this past week show that the perch are really hungry for grass shrimp.

Since there is no grass shrimp store in the area, that I know off, maybe I should give you some idea of where to get some grass shrimp.

Well, to start with, a grass shrimp store is out of the question, so Plan B is called for. To implement Plan B you are gonna need a fine mesh dip net (sometimes called a scoop net) with a long handle. A small can or container will be necessary to put the grass shrimp in after you catch them. And, finally, a place to catch grass shrimp.

Bet you didn't know that grass shrimp usually live in and around grass? No, huh! Anyway, take your fine mesh, long-handled dip net, and scoop it along the edge of a ditch, or small bayou, or around the edges of a culvert, like those that go under Beach Blvd. You might wanna do this yourself before you turn your net over to the kids if you want to get any bait at all. You see, the kids will have great fun diggin' in all of the other bitters that you will catch in your scoop net.

Once you have a mess of grass shrimp you are ready to go after the perch. By the way, don't worry about keeping the grass shrimp alive as they work just as well dead as they do alive. It has something to do with the smell they give off that the perch seem to go ape over.

So nobody is mislead, you should know that grass shrimp seldom, if ever, grow larger than one inch long. Don't expect to catch grass shrimp that will go 25 to 30 count. They are not the same ones as the big ole good ones that people eat.

Some of the places you might catch some perch are the canals in the Herron Bay-Ansley area. Mulatto Bayou around Port and Harbor, and by all means, in the Bayou LaCroix.

Folks in the Bayou LaCroix area have been really helpful in giving information to fishermen as to where to locate the fish. The saltwater scene is starting to pick up. I have some reports that the area around Nine Mile Bayou in the Louisiana marsh is clearing up nicely, and some really big specks are starting to show up in this area.

You might wanna check with LaFrance for more information about "where they bitin'" in the marsh.

One point to remember; if you ever ask for information about "where they bitin'" at LaFrance, never do this while under the "Fishin' Tale Oak" as some of the stories told under this tree can have their veracity questioned.

This week's wonderful wise words: Get your gear ready, Spring is about to get sprung! Break out the spring tonic, turtle.
